

Yellow directional signpost in a forest. The signpost has a large yellow arrow pointing right. Below the arrow, there are two yellow directional signs. The left sign points left and the right sign points right. The left sign lists destinations and estimated walking times. The right sign lists destinations and estimated walking times, including a bus icon. A white rectangular sign is attached to the post between the two yellow signs, showing the location name and elevation. Below the white sign, there are two small circular logos.
